- (b) The policy will form part of the induction of new employees and will be provided to all other workers who perform work for the organisation.

4. POLICY PRINCIPLES

(a) Integrity

All employees/volunteers should conduct themselves with honesty and integrity in all business transactions and in all dealings with others.

The standards set out in this Code of Conduct are intended to form a mandatory standard for all attendees. However, all attendees are also expected to have a high level of personal integrity and demonstrate a vigilant sensitivity to the consequences of every act and a commitment to avoid any impropriety or even the appearance of one.

(b) Mutual Respect

All attendees are expected to treat other attendees, workers, suppliers, clients/ customers, volunteers and anyone else with whom they interact with courtesy and respect.

(c) Fairness

All attendees are committed to dealing fairly with other workers, suppliers, volunteers and other business associates.

(d) Ethical Conduct

All employees will adhere to the standards of conduct that have been set by the organisation and will act ethically in their approach to business decisions.

(e) Company Reputation

The organisation requires all attendees to conduct themselves at all times in a manner which upholds the reputation and good name of the organisation. Attendees must not involve themselves in any conduct which, in the reasonable opinion of the organisation, may tend to harm or prejudice the reputation or good name of the organisation, its associated companies or its workers. This includes not saying or doing anything to or in relation to the organisation, its associated companies or its workers and suppliers which is adverse or prejudicial to or inconsistent with the management or policies of the organisation.

4. CODE OF CONDUCT

(a) Media Enquiries

All media inquiries are to be dealt with by the Secretary Colac RSL. Secretary@colacrsl.com.au
